

Welcome to the official website of the Iranian Scientific Association in the Netherlands (ISAN). ISAN is a social platform for all highly educated Iranians, from all study and professional fields, to share experiences and to help each other through its academic and social activities.

Iranian students of the Delft University Technology established ISAN in 1989. ISAN offers various lectures, courses, workshops as well as social events to meet the academic and cultural needs of its members.

We invite you to have a look into our site and our activities. If you are interested, you can sign up to receive emails on our activities. And of course you are more than welcome to become a member. For both options, please refer to the Contact section.

ISAN has no affiliation with any political and religious movements.

Sincerely yours
